THE KLEIN COMMITMENT CONTINUES. 1992.

Klein's new "Adept™" is the ultimate multi-use bike, weighing in at just 23 lbs 5oz (21" frame).

LEAVE YOUR CAR AT HOME.

Klein introduces Adept™, a multi-use bike with the weight savings, strength, meticulous quality, and superior ride only Klein can offer. A great off-road bike, comfortable for touring, ideal for cyclocross racing or commuting, Adept has no limits. It can go hard all weekend and get you to work on Monday.

QUIT READING AND GO RIDE ONE.

Adept will go anywhere you want to go. And you have the option of slick tires or knobbies, Klein's Mission Control™ bar and stem or drop bars.

Like every Klein bicycle, Adept is engineered and handmade in the U.S.A. to the highest standards. And comes with a limited lifetime or one million mile warranty.

Klein, recognized as the leading edge in quality and innovation, has become the standard by which other lightweight bikes are evaluated. Each one reflects an uncompromising attention to detail. And is the result of a continuing quest for lighter, faster, more responsive bikes.

WHAT YOU SEE DEPENDS ON HOW YOU LOOK.

Klein introduces "linear fade", the unique 3-color paint scheme that matches on directional surfaces, presenting one color from the front, another from the side, a third from the back. Like all Klein paint jobs, the linear fade is superior.

Klein's one-piece bar and stem in rise and no rise (at left, 135mm weighs just 355 grams).

MISSION CONTROL™: JUST 355 GRAMS.

The ultimate upgrade is now available for any bike with a 1" head tube. Klein's popular Mission Control, the best performance-priced, one-piece bar and stem on the market, is even lighter than last year. Mission Control, with the quality and finish Klein is famous for, comes complete with titanium hardware, and is available in rise and no-rise models in four lengths, gloss black only.
